Frequently Asked Questions

The questions below are intended as a guide for Table Tennis England members only. Should you be in any doubt or require any further clarification then please contact Towergate Insurance who will be pleased to assist.

Why do members need Public Liability Insurance?

What level of Public Liability Insurance do our members benefit from?

Does the members' Public Liability operate whilst abroad?

What doesn't it cover members for?

Are volunteers covered and who can be considered to be a volunteer?

I am a Table Tennis England Licensed Coach, am I covered by the Sports Liability Insurance?

I only coach once a week in the same school, for the last 30 years, why do I need Coach Insurance?

Who can claim on the Public Liability Insurance? Is it a Public Liability Policy covering claims by the public as a whole, or are there constraints or exclusions on who can claim?

What are some of the principal exclusions:

Claims Example

A member is competing in a table tennis event and accidentally collides with another player or spectator, resulting in injury to the other person.

The injured “third party” may hold the member or their club legally liable for the incident and may seek recovery for cost of medical treatment as well as lost earnings, distress, pain and suffering.

If the member is found negligent then these costs (less the excess) can be recovered under the member’s Public Liability Insurance.

Claims documentation

The claims documentation is restricted to Table Tennis England members only. In order to access the insurance documentation, please log-in to your membership account
